Fifth Victory Loan Opens October 18

OTTAWA—The Fifth Victory Loan campaign will open October 18, with a minimum cash objective of $1,200,000,000—the largest ever set for any Victory Loan—it was announced last week.

Finance Minister Bailey said: "While the objective is the largest ever set for any Victory Loan I am confident that it is well within the capacity of the Canadian people."

"The increase in the objective for the 5th Victory Loan indicates the need to obtain a maximum possible investment from all Canadians."

"Although recent war news has been extremely favorable, I am sure Canadians know that a severe and costly struggle is ahead. Our fighting forces are at full grips with the enemy, and our confident Canadians will lend their full support by the purchase of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan Bonds."

Provide Supply Synthetic Rubber

Synthetic rubber imported from the U.S. will be available to Alberta and other car owners in Canada for essential purposes according to a recent announcement by dominion government officials.

While these stocks are being obtained, there is no relaxing of regulations concerning the supplying of rubber, it was stated. The synthetic rubber will be made available for essential purposes, of which federal officials must be satisfied.

Federal authorities have stated that the synthetic material is softer than the rubber formerly in use, consequently it must be used with great care, and that the speed of the car should not exceed 35 miles per hour.

While this rubber is being made available, officials of the Alberta Motor Association point out that motorists should continue to exercise every care in driving to effect the greatest measure of tire conservation in the present war emergency.

Avoiding of many needless trips and adoption of group riding plans all will serve to save tires and aid in the national conservation campaign.

Mrs. Jas. Wiley of Edmonton was in town this week for a few days visiting friends and attending to business interests.

Harold Brunner was home for the week end from Red Deer.

Christmas Parcels for Overseas Mailed By November 1st

Christmas boxes will have a much longer distance to travel, entailing more handling and reshipment to reach many members of Canada's Fighting Services this year. To enable all the Dominion's men and women overseas to receive their Gifts from Home in time for Christmas Day, the Postmaster General, Hon. William P. Mullock, K.C., M.P., calls on the public to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas—not later than November 1.

The date is 10 days earlier than last year's closing time, but with many of our men serving in the Mediterranean areas, etc., the "deadline" has been advanced to meet the rapidly changing conditions.

The public are cautioned to lose no time but to Mail Early for Christmas Overseas—now and during October—the earlier the better to ensure the timely arrival of the anxiously awaited gift. The more distant our Forces may be from Canada, the earlier their Christmas mail should be sent.

Citizens are requested not to delay until the last minute to post their gift parcels but to Mail Early and so prevent congestion by giving the Post Office opportunity to give their mail prompt handling and to arrange for adequate cargo space, which because of the shipment of war supplies is necessarily limited. Thousands of Christmas parcels (last Christmas season more than 8½ million pounds) and other mails reaching the Post Office on or after the closing date would delay delivery by accentuating the difficulty of speedy handling and make it impossible for sufficient cargo space to be found aboard the last steamships departing with the Christmas mails to ensure all parcels and letters reaching their destinations in time. A giftless Christmas Day would dawn for many men and women in uniform overseas, turning the holiday into a day of disappointment instead of cheer, for which even the later arrival of their parcels could not compensate. Citizens can prevent this from happening by Mailing Early—well before November 1.

It is also suggested that to help facilitate the provision of shipping space for the overseas Christmas mails to the Canadian Forces that each sender should voluntarily cut down as far as possible on the weight and size of each Christmas package, notwithstanding the fact that the maximum weight of a parcel at reduced rate is set at 11 pounds. They will thus enable the Post Office to forward the maximum number of parcels in the space available aboard each ship, and so make deliveries in time for all. There is the most vital need of full co-operation by the public, for this year the Post Office expects an all-time record in the overseas volume of military mails will be established and is already preparing in every way possible to handle and expedite the influx. Greater care than ever before is necessary on the part of mailers, in the preparation of their overseas parcels, in order to avoid delay.

Address all mails in ink, fully, clearly and without misleading abbreviations. Be sure to place return address on cover—also include a slip in the parcel bearing sender's address as well as address of parcel. Prepay all mail correctly.

Jams, syrups and any other substance likely to leak and spread, if sent at all, must be enclosed in sealed containers (not glass bottles), surrounded with absorbent material in corrugated cardboard, and securely wrapped and tied. A completed Customs Declaration form should be affixed to every parcel. Apples, grapes, etc., or any article likely to spoil or become damaged, or to injure Postal personnel, or the mails are not acceptable. The mailing of Matches, Safety Matches, and Lighter Fluid or any other inflammable substance is strictly prohibited by law.

Citizens, by refraining from writing to our Forces overseas that gifts are being sent, until actually mailed, can save much disappointment. Do not disappoint our men by mailing their gifts too late for Christmas delivery.

Over the Fence Is Out, In Rationing

OTTAWA—Exchange of rationed goods is made illegal through a new WPB order. It is also now illegal for persons to use coupons to buy rationed goods to give away except to members of the Armed Forces outside Canada, the Merchant Marine, or relatives living outside the Dominion.

Highlights of the new ruling also include surrender of a ration book when any person leaves Canada for 60 days.

Hotel guests must now turn over their ration books to the management after a fortnight.

Consumers must destroy all expired coupons.

Consumers may leave ration books or sheets of coupons (stub in book signed) with their retailer who will take the responsibility of detaching proper coupons after sales to that customer.

Mrs. W. S. Clark is spending a few days in the city visiting friends.

Mr. E. P. Lewis is at Rochester, where he expects to undergo an operation.

We are very sorry to report Mr. F. Aykroyd is seriously ill in the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Schools will not open in Alberta until October 11th. It's a pity that the lower grades could not function as from September 7th as usual, as most of the youngsters in these grades are too young to be sent out in the harvest fields. As a consequence of the long holiday this year, schools will remain open next year during the month of July, which will not please the pupils any too well.

INSURANCE

OR TAX?

From a small Ontario town comes the story of one phase of unemployment insurance. An elderly man, retired some years ago, has been induced to help out the labor shortage by taking a job in a local shop. Inspectors of the Unemployment Insurance Commission have insisted that he take out an insurance book and make his contributions weekly. His intention is to return to retirement as soon as he can be spared, so that he will not be eligible for insurance benefit, even if he makes a sufficient number of contributions to qualify for it.

The incident illustrates one fallacy of the unemployment insurance plan. With fire or life insurance every individual is free to choose whether he wishes to be insured or not and to fit his insurance program to his own needs. Insurance agents are loath to admit that anyone is ever carrying enough insurance, but they would be equally loath to work for a company which had one form of policy only, even though every citizen had to buy one.

In the case cited, the weekly premium paid by the elderly employee is nothing but a tax on his right to work. The compulsory payments made by many other employees fall in the same class. Married women who have taken war jobs, stenographers who plan to get married as soon as they can manage it, will probably never receive any benefit from their premiums. The beneficiaries will be the men who are now earning good wages at war work, and are or should be putting something aside to tide them over possible unemployment when their jobs come to an end.

The tax may be necessary, since the appetite of the Department of National Revenue is insatiable, but calling it insurance does not make it more attractive to those who have to pay it.—The Printed Word.

EDGERTON

The 100th Victory Wheel was won by Joan Kingston with No. 13.

L. W. Darby and the community suffered a severe blow when fire of unknown origin made a clean sweep and completely destroyed the Drug Store in the early hours on Thursday morning. The fire apparently had got too good a hold when the Fire Engine arrived to be put out. Fortunately there was practically no wind and the flames and smoke went up nearly straight. A number of people who had attended the Dance helped in getting some of the household contents from the residence above the Store by way of the outside stairs and windows before the fire and smoke from below made it impossible to work. Nothing from the Store was saved. We understand that fire insurance was carried. Mrs. Darby and Kenny were away in the city

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Writes specially
for the weekly newspapers of Canada

As this is written Ottawa is being clipped, manicured and waved and decorated for President Roosevelt's visit. There is intense interest on the part of usually blasé officials and certainly the multitude of civil servants, temporary war-jobs and the thousands of others who make this capital Churchill, Eden, Madame Chiang Kai Shek, Giraud, and now the very popular F.D.R. himself. It will be an historic occasion, one of the ever-increasing evidences of U.S.-Canadian friendship and inter-nation co-ordination. The vast concourse of beautifully kept lawn in front of the Peace Tower, where Mr. Roosevelt will speak from, is estimated to accommodate 20,000 people. The S.R.O. sign will surely be out early. His talk, going over the air waves is at high noon which is always heralded here by the boom of a cannon.

We hear a lot about manpower, but what about Canadian womanpower? Well, there are 4,240,000 women over 14 years of age in Canada. Here are some interesting figures about them. As of January 30, 1943, of this number there were 1,162,000 in industry and 255,000 directly or indirectly in war industry. Farm women numbered 830,000; women students 309,000. There were more than 31,387 in the armed services (and that figure must be considerably increased by this time). 300,000 are considered unemployed.

Canada's vegetable oil industry is one of those revolutionized, in a sense, by the necessities of this global war. This industry is, of course, agriculture. Take flaxseed, of which 53% of that used was imported in 1939. In 1942, however, all of the 3,388,195 bushels used were of domestic origin. Our acreage objective for 1943 is 2,492,000 or an astounding increase over the previous year of 67%. All these changing phases having to do with our agricultural and industrial economy will be part of the post-war problem.

Is it all right to lead your ration book to your farmer friend who uses a great deal of tea, while you use very little? The Prices Board says no, and Thelma Craig of the Information branch answered me this way: "Rationing is for the equal sharing of certain commodities which are in short supply. It does not mean that Granny, just because she likes the extra pot of tea, should be able to have double the ration of the woman next door, nor does it provide for the swapping of tea and sugar by two neighbors who live across the road from each other." Fact of the matter is the whole rationing system is set up on the basis that the majority will conserve their use of the rationed articles to actual and immediate needs.

Harking back to the Order-in-Council which made it an offence to waste coal or heat, owing to the serious fuel situation facing Canada, it is interesting to know that our normal peacetime coal needs are about 30 million tons. This year, geared to such a high war tempo, provision must be made for about 47 million tons. Canadians can be selfish as individuals and sneak excessive heat, more than necessary, or they can play ball for the good of all in Canada. It's really co-operation for national conservation instead of coercion that is wanted.

Talking with a newspaperman back from Washington the other day, he told of trying out a meat shop right close to the main drag, which advertises horse meat—choice stuff from "young wild western horses". He bought a roast and thought it quite tasty. Cost less than half the price of beef. He was afraid, however, that in time they would bring in "18-year old farm horses", or something.

The Quebec conference enhances Canada's status in the eyes of the world. In this connection I find that in 1937 our capital city could boast only two legations, four consulates and one High Commissioner's office. Today there are representatives of 22 nations always in close touch with the Canadian government. The housing shortage in Ottawa creates problems, too, for numerous commercial and military attaches and their staffs

A very international flavor is exuded when one comes across the flags of United Nations in front of various homes and buildings scattered around the city.

Recently a gathering of members of sheep breeders associations at the Central Experimental Farm here saw a demonstration of the drug phenothiazine, in the latest method devised by science for controlling sheep parasites. Dr. W. E. Swales, Science Service of the Department of Agriculture, showed how the medicine, a two inch tablet, is plopped into the throat of the animal, using a tongue depressor. An expert can do 80 lambs in an hour. One reason for the importance of the drug at this time is that parasites destroy the animal's intestines which are so valuable for the making of surgical sutures needed on the battlefield.

Children in the country, here's a war job for you. The National Research Council needs 100,000 lbs. or more of the common milkweed, for experiments in blending with certain types of synthetic rubber. It will be paid for. Farmers who have goodly stands of the weed can cut with a binder, leaving a long stubble of at least 6 inches and making small sheaves. Dried sheaves shipped collected to Ottawa will be worth $30 a ton. For further information write Dr. Harold A. Senn, Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Having a chat in his office one day recently with Fred McGregor, chief enforcement officer for Canada of the Wartime Prices Board, I had a look at some of the counterfeit gas ration coupons seized when Black Marketers of a ring were roped in. Pretty clever imitation they were, but eventually the law caught up with the racketeers. Enforcement in control legislation is a big job, taken on a nation-wide scale.

When you hear of abandoned farms you think of former drought areas of western Canada. Therefore it might jolt far easterners and far westerners to know that an official release just out shows that in Eastern Canada there are between 12,000 and 13,000 farms, covering about a million and a half acres, abandoned, lying idle for some time. Surveys show, paralleling the western causes much the same, they were abandoned because and was originally submarginal for agricultural purposes; some because of unsound farm practices, etc.

It is amazing the number of people who come in a continual flow, from various parts of Canada and the United States, to visit the Peace Tower. To reach the top and get that wonderful panoramic view from the balcony right under the big clock, one has to climb a couple of short series of stairs and ascend by two different elevators—one slow, the other faster. The attendants everywhere are, I find on every visit, most courteous. The Memorial Chamber is worth a visit to Ottawa alone. On the descent one is always given a good view of the famous carillon bells.

Naval Service Headquarters is pepped up about the special "Wren Recruiting Day" planned by the W.R.C. N.S. in connection with the anniversary of one year of service with the navy, scheduled for August 29. Over 4000 of them are now in navy blue with 5500 being the number aimed at by March, 1944. New recruits will shortly find themselves in the newly revised natty uniform. Wrens are to be drafted to the United Kingdom and Newfoundland, and what better hope of adventure is there for girls interested. The other day I watched a second flagpole being erected atop the Navy Building. It strikes the blue and red field with a large yellow anchor. That's the Naval Board flag, flying beside the usual naval ensign.

They say the cost of living in Ottawa is really high but how does it compare with things out here? Here are a few average prices listed by the OTTAWA CITIZEN the day of this writing: sirloin steak 40.8 lb.; round steak 38.8 lb.; prime rib rolled roast 44.3 lb.; Canadian cheese 33.4 lb.; oranges 40.6 cents dozen, United States an-thracite stove coal at $16.75 ton; vegetable shortening 19.1 lb. I do know restaurant eating, piece by piece, is high—but if one shops around off the main by-ways it is possible to dine reasonably, even if not in fancy surroundings.

If the average civilian worked half as hard at learning his trade as the boys in the army do at learning to be soldiers, you could just bet your bottom dollar that this old world would be full of mighty well trained fellows.

The other week we left Mewata Armouries to really begin our Army training at No. 131 Canadian Army Basic Training Centre at Camrose.

This little town, which is the home town to hundreds of soldiers for a two-month period while they learn the first details of being soldiers is sure a mighty pretty spot and the camp is just as clean and spotless as a new pin.

Quite a gang of us came up here from Calgary and our first sight of the camp was as we trudged up the hill from town to the centre.

It was sure quite a sight and they have really done a swell job of building the camp around the fine-looking normal school building which is the headquarters.

The huts are all in neat rows and each has a name of a battle in which the boys from Canada fought in the first Great War. I'm bedded down in one known as Mons.

Right from the start they begin giving us plenty of army training and it is swell—except for the mosquitoes, which certainly haunt this part of the country.

Some of the boys claim that a little fellow caught hob for being out of line on parade the other morning when it really wasn't his fault at all. They claim he had taken the proper dressing when two of these mosquitoes grabbed him and lifted him a foot out of line just as the sergeant was looking his way.

The lad tried to explain but the sergeant would have no part of it until a couple of big stingers caught a hold of him and lifted him about a the devil are you going to be a fighting soldier if you're not in shape to clear a few obstacles.

There is one thing up here, though, at which I really shine and it sort of makes me pretty proud because despite what anyone may tell you, officers are mighty proud of their boys and will give you a pat on the back if you're doing a good job.

The thing which I do okay is shooting, and I just look forward to those periods on the indoor rifle range which adjoins the big drill hall here.

Seeing I handled a rifle quite a bit out on the ranch I can better than hold my own at snap-shooting, rapid fire or anything else and the sergeants opines that if I keep it up they'll make me a sniper and I'll get all the action I crave.

Boys Are Looked After

One thing I can't get over is the way they look after the boys in the Army in the 'off' hours. Here, just like at Calgary, there's free shows and concerts and the like all the time and a fellow doesn't have to spend money at all to be entertained.

In fact out of my $1.30 a day I'm saving plenty and when I've got a leave coming up why I'll be able to go on down to the ranch and show the boys a good time.

If you want to get on a little stretch of ground in which you can get in plenty of training just come up here and take a turn over the course where we learn the 'ins and outs' of bayonet fighting.

It isn't a very long stretch—maybe a 100 yards—and when you first take a look at it you figure it'll be just duck soup. But Mister, don't be fooled.

After you've come a-travelling down the course in and out of ditches parrying and thrusting at those dummies, you're quite willing to take a rest while another gang goes to work.

There's one thing you can be sure of though, after watching fellows in training here—and it's just basic training—the average civilian hasn't a chance of defending himself in close fighting with even a partially trained soldier.

It might be an idea, sometime, if they got out these fellows who don't figure it's worth while joining the Reserve Army and let them see the difference there is between an untrained fellow just in uniform and another fellow who has completed his two months of basic. I'm telling you it would sure give the civvies something to think about—if only about saving their own hides.

You Sometimes Miss Things

You know, it's funny sometimes how you can be around for quite a spell and miss something that's been going on all the time.

I've been here quite a spell and have seen the bugle band and a squad going out to the 'Retreat' ceremony each night but it wasn't until last evening that I got around to taking a look at this nightly performance.

The sun was a-casting long shadows across the lawn in front of the administration building as the band and squad marched up the driveway and halted around the flag pole that is situated at the top of the driveway.

It was quite a sight seeing that little squad, neatly turned out, on the driveway while in the distance was the town with brilliant sunlight reflected from the rooftops.

Soon the notes of the bugle drifted out across the lawn while the squad presented arms and the flag was lowered.

I'm telling you, I'm not sentimental, but there's something in that sort of solemn ceremony that gets you.

I'm right glad I took that little walk to watch the ceremony because when we leave here soon to go to an advanced training centre I'll always have the memory of 'Retreat' at Camrose tucked away, and it's one of the things that I won't forget.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

An interesting article in the effect of noise upon the human system is contained in a recent issue of "Industrial Medicine." Loud noises, it reveals, can actually seriously affect the normal digestive functions and directly cause nervous indigestion. Noise, too, it appears, has a definite effect on the brain and the ear drums. It has been found that persons living in noisy surroundings develop thickening of the ear drums, a stiffening of the small bones within the ear and a loss of movement on their part.

The hearing nerve itself finally becomes exhausted, resulting in a gradual loss of hearing power. Today New York cab drivers who ply in the most congested areas of the city where there is a constant blare of auto horns, are becoming hard of hearing.

The article states that occupational deafness, particularly among such people as printers, bus drivers, road makers and traffic policemen is on the increase. Not only does the continual pressure of strident sounds to which these workers are subjected tend to produce impairment in hearing, but there is also a strain on the nervous system which leads to neurasthenia and other ills.

All city noises range in intensity from 45 to 75 decibels, (unit used to measure noise) and it is this range which plays havoc with almost all human functions, declares the article. The problem is one which demands the attention of engineers, it is stated. Noiseless typewriters, the elimination of gear clash in automobiles, sound-proof cabins in aeroplanes and insulating materials to deaden street noises, are all steps in the right direction.

The article advises workers who must of necessity earn their living in noisy surroundings, to live, if possible in the quiet retreats of the suburbs or in some strictly residential neighborhood where there is a minimum of noise. Vacations should be spent in the country. Periodical absences from noise-laden surroundings will, it states, accomplish wonders in a great many cases of neurasthenia and allied nervous trouble.
